Walk lasted between 12:00 and 14:10

What a change from last week! We tied a record last week with 28 and this time we only got 19. That was right on the median but well below the predicted 25.7. The weather was great, so it wasn't all bad. On average, for the first 4 walks of the year, the observations and predictions are close, within a bird. If things are synchronized next week we should get 24.1. We shall see what we shall see.
