Walk lasted between 12:00 and 14:05

Well, Ashish's theory didn't pan out. We did not see a big excess of birds due to the recent fires. We observed 22 species, 1.7 short of the prediction. But, we did see two great birds, a Cassin's Kingbird and a Red-naped Sapsucker. So, that translates into a great walk by my standards. We also welcomed back Judi, who had been out with some "one-thing-after-another's" for several weeks. It was good to have her back.
