Another Wednesday walk and another big total. We recorded 29 species, one short of the record for a week 7. So, for the last two weeks, we've averaged a record. Not half bad. I'd say the bird of the day was the Oak Titmouse. That bird didn't sit still long enough for Jon to get a photo, but he did get one of a Townsend's Warbler. I've attached that as the photo of the day.
