Nice walk. Beautiful day for it. Looks like Wednesday was the only dry day for the week. Next week looks to be a challenge, since rain is forecast for the next seven days in a row. But, we'll find a way to get one in. The highlights of the walk were the Black-throated Gray Warbler and the fact we got three woodpeckers. Not bad. Out total of 24 was well below the record high of 35 for week 11, but it was above the median of 20. So, still a positive walk.
