Walk lasted between 12:00 and 14:12

We got 0.7 more than the prediction and 4 more than the median, so it was a good walk. There was only one zero-probability bird and that was the starling. The highest-probability bird that we didn't see was a Red-tailed Hawk at 75% probable. Next week, the record for the week is 37 and that is also the record of all time for any week. So, next week should be a good walk.
