Walk lasted between 12:00 and 14:05

We had a new walker along, John Mayfield, who is the 231st walker to walk the Caltech bird walk. John helped us observed 26 species, 2 above the prediction. This is week 13, the week that the all-time record of 37 species was set way back on 3/28/2011.

You can look up that report at http://birdwalks.caltech.edu/bird\_data/past\_walk\_reports\_mar2011.htm

We had three zero-probability birds: Chipping Sparrow, American Robin, and Red-shouldered Hawk, so I guess those were best birds for the week. We did miss a 100% probable bird, the Red-whiskered Bulbul. Overall, a very good walk.
