Walk lasted between 12:00 and 13:54.

We had new walker join us, Allison Roberts, who graduated from Caltech in 1999. I believe she lives in Australia now but is here for a few weeks and hopefully will join us again. She was very helpful, particularly right at the end where we added several birds in quick succession to put us over the prediction. The prediction was 21.9 and we ended with 23. Our highlight bird was the Western Wood-pewee, which was actually on the list with 12% probability. It was a good walk.
