Walk lasted between 12:00 and 13:52.

So, we fell a bit sort of the prediction this week. We observed 19 species and the prediction was 20.9. What failed us were the Band-tailed Pigeons and the Bewick's Wren.

We are on a downward trend now, with the predictions going into the teens after next week.

But, that gives us an opportunity to set a record as the weather has been cooler than usual at this time of year.
