Walk lasted between 12:00 and 13:45.

I guess the most excitement of the walk was tied between Viveca's spotting of a Cooper's Hawk hopping around on a lawn on Arden and Robin's sighting of the very quiet Red-masked Parakeets in the back of the IPAC building on Wilson. We did not get the record I thought we might get, but we were only 3 short. And the 3 short were very gettable: House Sparrow, Bewick's Wren, and Selasphorus-style Hummingbird. We did get the prediction of 16.6, rounded up. So, it was a good walk, as we beat the median for the week by 4 species.
