Walk lasted between 12:00 and 13:54

We observed the same number of species as last week, 22, which was well above the prediction of 19.2. The most interesting sightings were the Black-chinned Hummingbird and the Red-shouldered Hawk. They were both seen in the Do Not Enter Service Yard. But, we entered anyway, as we always do. I have the key. It was a good walk.
